

New solution group creates leading global SAP reseller and ‘solutions based’ consulting organisation

- NTT DATA and itelligence form an integrated group of solution companies
- Overall coordination towards the integration will be led by Herbert Vogel, CEO and founder of itelligence
- Asia Pacific region to be guided by Max White, Managing Director, Extend Technologies

Sydney/ Bielefeld – January 18, 2012 – NTT DATA and itelligence today announced the next phase of their global market strategy in the SAP environment. NTT DATA, Japan, already one of the ten largest global IT consulting companies, and itelligence AG, the world’s most successful SAP partner for SMEs, are bundling their expertise in the newly formed group of solution companies that will virtually create the largest global SAP reseller and ‘solutions based’ consulting firm.

The new group of solution companies will be coordinated by Herbert Vogel, CEO and founder of itelligence AG, Germany. With this move, itelligence AG is expanding its SAP service range to include the Asia Pacific (APAC) region. Coupled with an extensive presence already in place in the Americas, this latest development completes the global footprint.

The coordination in Asia Pacific region will be led by Max White, Managing Director of Extend Technologies. He will head the activities of the existing NTT DATA Group SAP assets in the APAC region, including Extend Technologies (Australia), Business Formula (Malaysia), and Cornerstone Asia (Singapore), and coordinate and be responsible for further expansion in growth markets such as Thailand, Indonesia, and Vietnam.

The solution group will form part of NTT DATA’s wider global strategy of assigning its foreign subsidiaries to four regions worldwide – Americas, EMEA, APAC and China – plus the globally active solution company.

Herbert Vogel, CEO of itelligence AG, commented: "I am delighted that itelligence is coordinating this new global unit. This serves to underline NTT DATA's confidence in itelligence's distinctive expertise and demonstrates the deep relationship between our two companies. Bundling and coordinating the SAP activities of the NTT DATA subsidiaries in the booming growth markets of Asia in particular will be a challenge for which Max White is ideally equipped. This is a successful milestone for NTT DATA and itelligence on their joint path towards offering customers around the world top-quality, optimised IT solutions and SAP consulting."

Customers in the APAC region will have access to the world's largest jointly coordinated network of SAP consultants. In particular, the organisation to be formed in the Asia Pacific region will be the point of contact for global and multinational accounts, government agencies and internationally active SMEs, as well as providing an interactive, global network for the wide variety of local customer requirements. This new organisation is seeking to establish itself as the leader for SAP project implementation and consulting in the Asia Pacific region. Max White, Managing Director, Extend Technologies, will assume responsibility for managing the APAC region.

"I am thrilled to be leading the initiative in Asia Pacific region into 2012! The powerful combination of leading Asia Pacific SAP powerhouses – Extend Technologies, Business Formula and Cornerstone Asia – backed by over 5,000 SAP consultants globally, ensures our professional delivery to the SAP ecosystem across Asia Pacific and globally. Operating as one regional team will allow us to drive our expansion through three simple but compelling principles; industry alignment, technology innovation and local coverage model across specific geographies. A singular focus on SAP as the strategic enterprise backbone of choice will ensure we deliver unparalleled value to our customers," says Max White, Managing Director, Extend Technologies.

"I expect exponential growth to 500 SAP consultants in the region by 2015 with revenue of $300m," adds Mr White.
